

A PANEL DISCUSSION & DEBATE
ON

PROJECT CIVIL CITY

TUESDAY MAY 1, 2007

IS RAMPANT PUBLIC DISORDER REALLY THREATENING THE QUALITY OF LIFE IN VANCOUVER?

Late last year, Mayor Sam Sullivan introduced “Project Civil City” – an ambitious initiative that seeks to reduce homelessness, tackle crime, reduce drug dealing, and clean up the city. All by 2010.

But along with the broad goals of PCC comes a veritable wish list featuring dozens of “possible actions”. What will all these potential responses mean? And who will be affected if they are implemented?
